Conservative Anabaptist ministry convention
hosted by Faith Builders Educational Programs
Welcome to REACH 2017!
On behalf of the Faith Builders staff and the displaying ministries, I extend to you a heartfelt welcome. It is our hope and prayer that your time at REACH 2017 is encouraging and enabling.

There is much here to learn, many people to talk with, prayers to offer, dreams to ponder, and callings to consider. In this booklet you will find the information needed to plan how you can maximize the opportunities of these two days. You will want to make final decisions regarding the breakout and ministry presentations you will attend. Perhaps you will want to pray through the list of participating ministries.

Faith Builders personnel will be close by if you have questions, suggestions, or concerns. Just look for the name tag. Also, there should always be someone available at the information desks in the lobby. We want to hear from you.

We invite you to pause for a moment and pray that this convention would indeed contribute to His will being done on earth as it is in heaven.

Leadership Challenges During Times Of Transition
Melvin Lehman
Transitions are inevitable and most of the time dreaded. But does it have to be that way? The answer is “No!” The longer answer raises a second question: How can transitions be positive experiences for personnel and organization? This question is the central focus of this session. Come with your ideas and questions and we will explore this question together.

Maintaining 501(c)(3) Status (with "Ask an Attorney" session)
Ray Hershberger
This session will be prefaced with the biblical mandate for cross-cultural ministry. We will also present legal principles for communicating the Gospel cross-culturally at home and abroad. Practical considerations include speaking through an interpreter, cultural taboos, and avoiding dependency. This session will be an overflow of personal experiences of the teacher.

Practical Suggestions For Sharing The Gospel
Allen Roth
Do you struggle to start conversations on spiritual topics with people? And once you do, how to share the Gospel? This session is designed to give participants ‘hands-on’ ideas for starting conversations and sharing the Gospel. The session is designed by and for teams to practice.

The Excellent & Challenges Of Starting A New Ministry
Kevin Bauman
The startup phase of a new ministry is often energetic and exciting! It does not take long before reality sets in and challenges come along. The work is discouraging. In this session we will be looking at the importance of having a worthy vision, the importance of structure, being honest and open and learning more.

Unseen Integrity: Developing & Implementing Effective Internal Controls
Dennis Yoder
Internal controls can be like brakes on a car: unnonted until they stop working. In this session we will discuss how to develop appropriate internal financial controls for organizations of various sizes, and addresses specifics such as handling cash, working with international locations, and the importance of internal controls with your board and staff.

What Is Storytelling And Why Does It Change People?
Lorri Hersberger
To be human is to hear and tell stories. In this session, we will look at specific elements of storytelling with examples and analysis.

Working With Generation Y
Brian Martin
What should you know about working with young people? How can you fill gaps in a young person’s life that may impact eternity? What assumptions do I carry that hinders ministry? This session will attempt to address these questions, prepare to get involved!

BREAKOUTS B

An Effective Newsletter: Accurate, Touching, & Touchful
Weston Showalter
Compiling a good newsletter is one way we can “plant the cause of the poor and needy.” Accurate information, touching stories, well-written articles, good photos, and tasteful design are all a part of it. We will discuss what a good newsletter includes and doesn’t include.

Avoiding Burnout: Maintaining Spiritual Vitality
John Coblenz
Ministry is typically taxing. There is always more to do than we can do in any given week. How do we keep ourselves about this? Is it possible to minister to others when we are tired or weak ourselves? We will take an honest look at habits that lead to burnout and then explore the means of maintaining spiritual vitality in ministry.

Bible Translation: Why Not Leave It For Wycliffe?
Aaron Crider
Why are conservative Anabaptists getting into Bible translation? Do we really have what it takes? Come read about those who still have no Scripture in their language, and consider how God has equipped you to respond to that present-day reality. From the front lines to the back home supporter, discover what place you can fill in this growing work.

Characteristics Of Effective Ministry Personnel
Ray Stutzman
This session is designed to give participants "hands-on" ideas for starting conversations and sharing the Gospel. The session is designed by and for teams to practice.

Professorialism and the Anabaptist’s Church/State Distinction
Collier Berkshire
As Christendom disintegrates around us, we Anabaptists have a unique opportunity to awake other Christians to the truth of Nonresistance. How can we gain a realistic understanding of the life God offers us in Jesus Christ. This session will show the importance of Nonresistance, its place in the Gospel message, and encourage our outreach to recognize that fact and not neglect teaching Nonresistance.

Breach Of Faith
Debbie Lauber
Transitions are inevitable and most of the time dreaded. But does it have to be that way? The answer is “No!” The longer answer raises a second question: How can transitions be positive experiences for personnel and organization? This question is the central focus of this session. Come with your ideas and questions and we will explore this question together.

Anti-Americanism And Religious Affiliation
Stephen Russell
What connection does Nonresistance have to the Gospel? As Christendom disintegrates around us, we Anabaptists have a unique opportunity to awaken other Christians to the truth of Nonresistance. How can we gain a realistic understanding of the life God offers us in Jesus Christ. This session will show the importance of Nonresistance, its place in the Gospel message, and encourage our outreach to recognize that fact and not neglect teaching Nonresistance.

Managing the "I" Of Cross-Cultural Communication
Collier Berkshire
Ethnocentrism – A very unfamiliar word describing a very familiar problem and challenge. This problem/challenge becomes even more acute when we consider reaching out across cultures that are inside “the realm of our own Anabaptist sub-culture.” What are the challenges we face? How can we overcome these challenges and be more effective in our outreach efforts?

Cross-Cultural Ministry In Urban America
Reuben Petersheim
How can we effectively minister to those distanced from ourselves? How can we learn from the mass culture while not conforming to the popular? We can place in our arsenal to sling at Giant Despair? Discouragement is one of Satan’s most well-worn tools. We all face times of discouragement in our lives. What are the smooth stones we can place in our arsenal to slang at Giant Despair?

How do I find fulfillment and purpose in menial tasks? How can we serve the Lord with a positive attitude? How can we make a difference? This session will address these questions. Come to this session and consider how we can Christians can defend our faith with our words and through our actions.

BREAKOUTS A
Authentic Leadership

Henry Blank

Authentic is a buzz word lately. While the word has often been misused, it does express a deep longing in the heart of this generation for reality. In a world of fake TV preachers and phony politicians, what this generation desperately needs is authentic godly leaders. How is God calling us as men to be authentic leaders in our homes, our churches and ministries?

BREAKOUTS A

Beliefs: From Claiming To Owning
Clifford Schrock

It is easy to bear ideas and claim them as truth with little personal thought. This approach to life tends to leave one with a collection of beliefs that are shallow,广泛的, and which are easily given up or held dogmatically. We will think about the process of moving from stating a claim to owning that claim, the process of developing well-developed, productive, personal beliefs.

Building Confidence With Your Support Base
Melvin Lehman

At the center of the health of a non-profit organization are integrity and trustworthiness. Finances, public relations, and board strength are just a few areas that are tested on occasion in this arena. At the end of the day, every board and management team needs to know that no known breach of integrity exists between themselves, the people they serve, and the support base that makes the ministry possible. This session explores the nuts and bolts of building confidence with the support base in various ways.

What But Can I Do?
Earl Peachey

No one has tapped me on the shoulder. I am too young, I am too old, I am not particularly gifted. I am stuck at home. I am only one small person in the light of the vast needs and great opportunities. Conducting Bible Studies With The Unchurched
Ernest Eby

Who are the people in ministry, it is important to recognize the symptoms of this disorder and to understand the limitations of individuals and people they serve, and the support-base that makes the ministry possible. This session explores the nuts and bolts of building confidence with the support base in various ways.

Effective Leading A Team
Reuben Petersheim

As a team grows and new team members join it can be increasingly difficult to keep the team on the same page. How do you build trust on a team and effectively engage all team members? As a ministry? How do we measure success and effectiveness? We will participate in activities designed to illustrate the different learning styles.

Moral Purity And Ministry
Darrell Nisly

Without purity, our personal ministry will be powerless. Society’s morals are crumbling at unprecedented rates, and while we may be in ministry, we are not exempt from its impact. We are called to both live it (and have the reputation of purity) and to speak it. In this session we will call attention to the realities of the corruption around us, discuss potential pitfalls that we may face, and learn the importance of implementing guardrails into our lives. Stay for the conclusion and you will learn about the single most important key whereby we can both obtain and maintain moral freedom!

Five Essential Traits Of Christian Leadership
Galen Stutzman

How can we meet Muslims locally and share the way of Christ with them? How can we interact with Muslims in the USA? How do Christian ministry teams enhance their witness for Christ? Where does trust come from and how does it disappear? What are the big issues our young people are facing? What are the advantages of long-term ministry? What is the mythology that is cracked up to be? What legacy will I treasure in eternity? Five Essential Traits Of Christian Leadership.

Women Navigating Difficult Relationships
Norm Miller

At some point in their life, most people will find themselves in directions resulting in great frustration and frequent division. But What Can I Do? Everyone has a friend or family member who is difficult. We should not be surprised when we face these challenges. In this session we would like to suggest a few pointers that could help the foreign missionary not only adapt to the new culture, but to be accepted and loved by the people he relates to, and thereby becoming an effective communicator of the gospel.

The Missionary Adapts To A Foreign Culture
Leonard Mast

Even secular people agree: effective leadership is essential for any organization or program to be successful. Is leadership a talent some people are blessed with and others are not? What makes leadership effective? What makes it Christian? We will explore five traits that are vital for becoming an effective leader in the Kingdom of God.

Business As Mission

Gary Miller

How does business fit the mandate to seek first the Kingdom of God and the Great Commission? How does a kingdom purpose evaluate the legitimacy/purpose of products and the importance/treatment of people. Where does the goal of financial profit fit into the Christian businessmans/vision? How can a Christian businessman be purposeful about his business benefiting the Christian community? What other purposes guide a Christian in business?

Family As Ministry

Melvin Lehman

An often asked question is: “How can I involve my family in the ministry that I have been called to?” While this is a good question, another that is at least of equal importance is: “How can my family have direct influence on the immediate community where we find ourselves?” Or: “What does family as a stand alone ministry look like?” This session focuses on the organic growth of ministry from family outward rather than the traditional well-oiled organizational based ministry that requires mega-bucks and too much of my time for the good of my family.

Leading in Times Of Crisis

Lesvos, Greece

Emanuel Esh

Strong teamwork is essential to fulfilling a vision in times of crisis. Rolling with the punches of fast-paced changes on the front lines demands flexibility and nimbleness.

Amos Esh

Similar to other careers more of our mission organizations could benefit by long term commitments of its workers. This workshop will look at the positives and negatives of career missionaries. Including such topics as:

- The call
- The task
- Family considerations (third culture children)
- Sustainability (relationships with co-workers, health, and aging)

Maintaining Healthy Cross-Gender Relationships in Ministry

John Goblenz

Ministries draw people into close working relationships. It is common for a married man, for example, to work on the same staff as single ladies, and for single men and women from a variety of backgrounds to come together in the same ministry. We will explore characteristics of healthy cross-gender interaction as well as a number of traps to avoid.

Ministry: Mastering Service While Serving the Master

Curt Wagoner

Can one effectively minister to others without first having a servant’s heart? Jesus spoke clearly about the need for those in His Kingdom to embrace virtues such as humility, childrenness and servant-hood. But must every opportunity to minister be approached in this manner? Learn what the New Testament teaches us about the relationship between effective ministry and servant-hood and how the experiences of life validate these teachings.

Building Spiritual Relationships

Waie Burkholder

This session will look at three important types of spiritual relationships. Mentors or coaches, peers or co-labourers, and followers or admirers. We will look at the nature of each of these types of relationships and how they can be built and used effectively.

What Can Asian Christians Teach Conservative Anabaptists?

Raymond Burkholder

As conservative Anabaptists, we have been gifted a faith and understanding of the world around us abundantly. We tend to have so much and do so little while the younger generation is so little and do so much.

When Can I Finally Do Great Things for God?

Clayton Shen

Many times in youth, it seems like the older generation has so little and do so much. We tend to have so much and do so little while the younger generation is so little and do so much.

P.E.A.C.E. Ministries, sponsored by the Mid-Atlantic church fellowship, is located in the town of Hanover, PA; where the typical American lifestyle of addictions, teen pregnancies, juvenile delinquents, and broken homes is prevalent.

Dealing with the local teens and children, low income families, drug addicts, and the spiritual warfare that we face can be draining at times, but the friendships that we build and impact that we leave can be life changing.

Our main event of the week is our Tuesday evening Bible clubs. We have several Bible studies throughout the week and on Thursday afternoons we play games with the younger children. The rest of the week, we spend studying, just being there for the needs of the people and doing the everyday things that living requires.

Two-Year Programs of Study | Beginning August 21
Faith Builders offers three two-year tracks of study to prepare people to engage the world in effective and God-honoring ways. All of these tracks of study are guided by our unique emphasis on the nurture of whole students. Study at Faith Builders includes the development of the mind through classroom study, hands-on training in real world settings, and spiritual growth through mentoring.

Teacher Apprenticing Program
The Teacher Apprenticing Program is designed to prepare teachers with the character, Christian framework, and necessary skills for sustained and faithful classroom teaching.

Christian Ministries Program
This program is composed of two years of study for those preparing for a lifetime of service. The track includes training in Bible, theology, communication, history, and ministry skills. We offer concentrations in Bible, discipleship, and music.

General Studies Program
The General Studies track is for students who wish to study at Faith Builders and fulfill many general education requirements before continuing studies elsewhere. It is intended to equip students to successfully engage the academic, personal, and spiritual challenges of college.
